

Preventing terrorism and radicalisation

What is Prevent?

Prevent is a safety net against radicalisation. Prevent aims to intervene early and stop people becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism. Prevent deals with all terrorist ideologies, from Islamist to Extreme Right Wing.

Prevent is delivered locally by experts who understand the risks in their communities. This includes partners from the Local Authority, Police, Education, Health and charities.

For those who are susceptible to radicalisation, Prevent can provide personalised interventions to help them move away from dangerous ideologies, such as mentoring, ideological interventions, etc.

What is Radicalisation?

Radicalisation happens when a person develops extreme views or beliefs that support terrorist groups or activities.

People can be radicalised by being exposed to radicalising influences in person or online.

A person's susceptibility to radicalisation may be linked to their vulnerability. A person can be vulnerable if they have special needs or require additional support or protection because of age, disability or risk of abuse or neglect.

Common signs of radicalisation

- Accessing extremist content online or downloading propaganda material
- Justifying the use of violence to solve societal issues
- Altering their style of dress or appearance to accord with an extremist group.
- Being unwilling to engage with people who they see as different
- Using certain symbols associated with terrorist organisations.
